

PACIFIC ALUMINIUM

Oji Fibre Solutions

www.meug.co.nz

Major Electricity Users' Group

Who we are

The Major Electricity Users' Group (MEUG) is a specialist business-association recognised for its experience in applying best practice regulatory policy, taking a NZ Inc perspective. MEUG advocates for improvements in the regulation of the electricity sector and plays an active role in working constructively with all parts of the supply chain including other consumer groups, distributors, Transpower, generators and retailers as well as government decision makers comprising ministers, members of Parliament, regulators and officials. In the ever-evolving complexities of the electricity sector, MEUG is the pre-eminent consumer voice.

⚡ 28%

of all New Zealand's electricity is used by the MEUG group

$900m

paid p.a for electricity charges

Testimonials

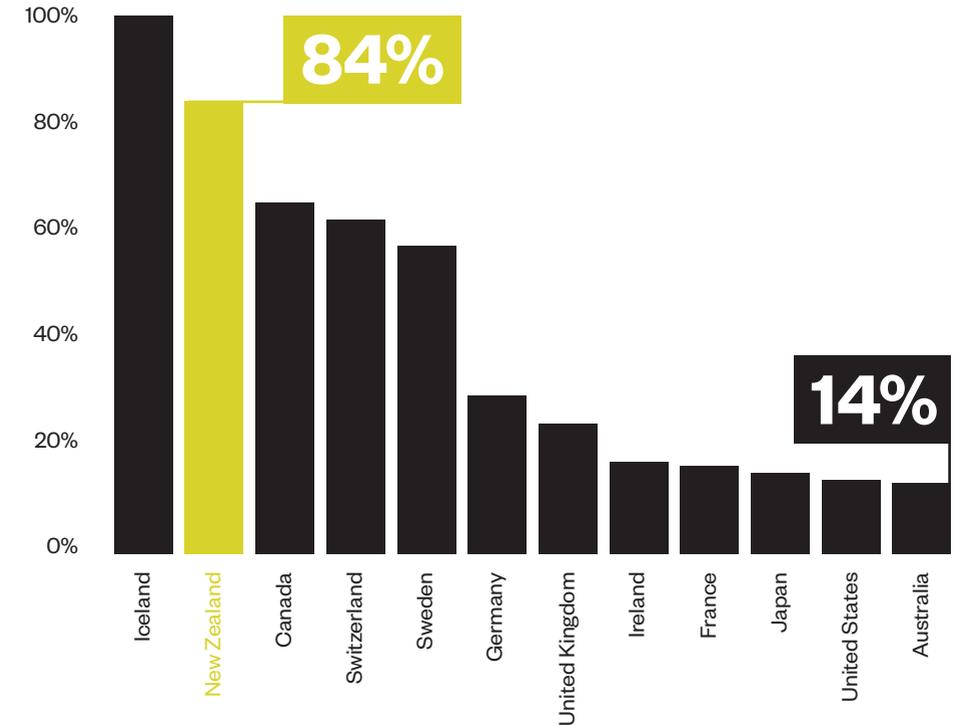

'The Electricity Authority gains great value from the expert input provided by stakeholder groups, and they're also a very effective means for engaging on a regular basis, particularly for groups with members dispersed across the country.'

Carl Hansen
Chief Executive
Electricity Authority

'MEUG works closely with the Consumer New Zealand helping it to represent the interests of consumers in the electricity sector, a sector which is by its very nature is complicated and multifaceted - MEUG's ability to understand the technical details benefits all electricity consumers in New Zealand.'

Sue Chetwin
Chief Executive
Consumer NZ

New Zealand businesses use some of the cleanest, most renewable, electricity in the world.

$11b

billion dollars contributed to GDP per annum

25,000

direct employees

$30b

billion dollars in revenue per annum

